Canyon Girl Is Popular In Song With Camp Men

CAMP BEAUTIFIED

News Writer Tells of the Activities at the Palo Duro

By W. B. GRAUEL
C. C. C. Camp Correspondent

Being a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps at Pao Duro Canyon provides a number of interesting experiences. For example, since the 600 World War veterans of Texas have assembled here to work on improvements to the already magnificent canyon, acquaintances have been renewed; the army, navy and marine corps once more is represented side by side in a common cause; memories of stirring days "over there" are lived again, and, last but not least, there is the singing and playing that puts a fellow near his sweetheart, even though she is hundreds of miles away.

During the world war it was Miss Elsie Janis that sung her way into the hearts of the men. At Palo Duro Canyon it is Miss Dorothy Gore who has literally swept the camp off its feet with her charming voice and particular ability to sing the songs that the men love to hear. Miss Gore came to the camp originally with Rev. C. W. Foote, of the Canyon Methodist church. The services over, she joined in the singing. It was quickly realized that she found great pleasure in singing for the men. They asked her to return.

She did. And, after playing to the accompaniment of Isaac Reed, of Houston, she received an ovation from the entire camp and was officially voted queen of Company 1828, the members of which principally are from Houston, Beaumont, and other East gulf cities. Each night the old songs are repeated, with all the enthusiasm of 15 years ago. Of course, the next morning, it is back to the pick and shovel—but that's another story.

Amusement is Afforded

A session of "kangaroo court," during which Bill Bernard, of Houston, was the defendant, was a feature of the recreation features over the week-end at the Palo Duro Canyon State Park, where 600 World War veterans of Texas are engaged on an extensive improvement program as a part of President Roosevelt's Civilian Conservation Corps undertakings.

Bernard was defended by H. C. Anderson, of Beaumont. The prosecuting attorney was A. P. Hill, of Beaumont, who is athletic director for Company 1828. Lynn LaRose of Beaumont, was "high sheriff," and his huge star caused much merriment. Ed Bump of Orange, was the presiding judge. Bernard was found "guilty."

His sentence was fixed at ten "slaps" with a strap as he hastened on his hands and knees past the company. Pat Twonsend, of Houston, who was selected to administer the "punishment," was not prepared when Bernard started down the line and the defendant escaped without a lick. It was rumored that Bernard took the precaution to put a board inside the seat of his trousers, and the "grand jury" which is investigating the alleged charge, may or may not bring in an "indictment" against him for "obstructing justice."

The original charge on which Bernard was arraigned and tried was that he escorted a group of visitors in too close proximity to the "shower baths" where a number of the veterans were reported practicing up in the event any nudist colonies are formed in the vicinity. It was a very serious offense, everyone agreed, as some of

SERVICES AT CAMP

Mrs. T. V. Reeves will talk next Sunday morning at the Camp on incidents connected with the early history of this section.

Fifty More College Boys Provided Homes

More Cottages Planned For T-Anchor Farm of College

There will be fifty more college boys on the campus of the College this fall than ever before, if a second new deal which is being considered in connection with the College can be carried out.

The T-Anchor undertaking has been so successful, and the standard of college work of the men has been so high since the farm was developed that it is now believed that a number of houses can profitably be erected on the farm and provide homes for a large number of young men who could not possibly be in school except under some such arrangement.

Mr. Moore pointed out that there are at present nearly 200 young men who are asking for places to work in order to come to college this fall and that every available place for a man to work for all or part of his expenses in home or business place in Canyon has already been taken. This is the usual situation even when times are good. Boys living at the farm are near enough to town to have all the advantages of those close to the campus and down town district.

Community Living

It is planned to build several three-room cottages, each about 12 by 28 feet; part of the materials necessary for these houses have already been donated by persons interested in the school. A house centrally located will contain a laundry room, toilet, shower bath and other conveniences necessary to healthy living by the group.

If these houses are erected, boys will be chosen from each of several counties, and only those highly recommended as to scholarship and character will be given places. Each house will have a housemaster who will be responsible for conduct, organization and well-being of his group. Each young man will bring his part of the provisions for the group from home or purchase it, work will be shared by the four men of the house and cooking and housekeeping will be shared under the direction of the house master. Each man will pay a charge of $2.50 per month for his room, and groceries and incidentals can be provided at about $6.50 per man per month.

If the houses contemplated are built, they will be permanent and attractive, constructed of concrete and tile, adding much to the value and sightliness, as well as the usefulness of the college farm.

T. M. Moore is trying to work out this plan so that these houses can be built and ready for occupancy this fall, in order to take care of the demand which is coming from all parts of Northwest Texas for opportunity to come to college.

If he succeeds with this project, it will give young men about the same advantages that will be provided at Randall Hall for young women, who will be able to live on a co-operative plan at a cost of about $13 per month, with $6 of it payable in produce.

President J. A. Hill states that it is highly desirable that as good, cheap quarters be provided for men as for women, in order that ambitious, poor boys may have the same chance as is given to girls.

Wheat Information Not Ready; No Session at A. & M.

County Agent W. H. Upchurch is not at A. & M. College this week as he expected to be, owing to a telegram from O. B. Martin of the Extension Department which stated that the wheat information was not ready to give to the the County Agents at the present time.

Cotton acreage reduction has taken all of the time of the extension departments during the past week until it became necessary to postpone action of the wheat acreage for the present time.

Mr. Upchurch hopes to have a call for the meeting within the coming week.

Randall county farmers will be advised of the plans just as soon as Mr. Upchurch receives definite information

Grocery Stores To Close at 5:30 Beginning Aug. 1st

Grocerymen of Canyon met yesterday and accepted the provisions of the National Recovery Act which provides for stores being opened only 52 hours per week.

Beginning August 1st, all grocery stores in Canyon will open at 7:30 a. m. and will close at 5:30 p. m. This regulation will be followed until the National Grocery Code is approved, which may allow the stores to remain open for a longer time. However, the new regulation must be followed until the Code is adopted, state local grocers.

The public is warned that the grocery stores must close promptly at 5:30 each day, including Saturday. Citizens of Canyon will not be inconvenienced by the early closing, but farmers will be forced to come to town during the day instead of waiting until Saturday night to do their buying.

Local grocerymen state that it is their purpose to adhere very closely to President Roosevelt's Recovery Act as to hours, wage, and other provisions which have been made.

$180,000.00 IS SOUGHT ROAD RELIEF WORK

Plea Made to Austin and Washington Officials

PARK ROAD FIRST

Approved Yesterday By State Officials at Austin

Randall county has asked for a special highway fund of $180,000 for the purpose of providing relief work during the coming fall and winter. The request was taken to Austin yesterday by Senator Clint Small, who represents the Panhandle counties in the drouth area.

The request was filed Monday By Judge S. B. Orton, Commissioner G. B. Heath, and Clyde W. Warwick, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Randall county needs this amount of money to provide labor for the heads of approximately 250 heads of families, who will be affected by the drouth," was the statement made by the committee. The money would be used north and south of Canyon on No. 9, and in building a hard surfaced highway from Canyon to the Palo Duro State Park. If sufficient funds are available, another road would be projected from the Amarillo cemetery south to the Palisades State Park.

A meeting of representatives from 17 North Plains counties was held Monday in which the necessity of a special appropriation was discussed to provide labor for those who must have work during the coming fall and winter. J. O. Guleke of Amarillo presided, and presented the needs of all of the counties.

Congressman Marvin Jones addressed the gathering, and will leave next week for Washington to urge that the federal government make this appropriation, which must be presented by Texas Highway Commission.

Senator Small and Wilbur C. Hawk discussed the plans as made for presenting this request.

R. H. WRIGHT IS PRESIDENT STATE BANK

Succeeds Late Dr. Black In Heading Local Bank

HERE SINCE 1906

R. E. Baird Becomes Vice President of Local Institution

Directors of the First State Bank have elected R. H. Wright as President of the Bank to succeed the late Dr. J. M. Black. R. E. Baird was elected vice president and to a place on the board of directors.

Mr. Wright has been a citizen of Canyon since December 18, 1906, when he came as assistant cashier in the Canyon National Bank. He was elevated to the position of vice president in which capacity he served until the merger of that bank with the First National Bank in 1912. For two years he returned to his old home at Greenville, but returned to the Tulia Bank and Trust Company from 1914 until August 1916 when the Citizens Bank of Canyon was founded. He returned to Canyon as vice president of this banking institution. This latter bank was merged with the First State Bank in 1918. Mr. Wright continuing as vice president until his election as president on Tuesday.

Mr. Wright has always been recognized as one of the outstanding bankers of the Panhandle section and has formed a large circle of friends during his 27 years' connection with banks in Canyon.

Mr. Baird has the honor of having lived in Randall county longer than any other citizen. He came in March, 1883, before there was an organized county on the Plains of Texas. He has been a successful stockman and farmer, and one of the most highly respected citizens of Northwest Texas.

The other directors of the First State Bank are Grady Oldham, cashier, R. A. Bellah and J. W. Reid.

Mrs. Clyde Freeman of White Deer was here Monday to visit with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Black.

Code of Ethics Being Discussed For Recovery Act

Barbers of Canyon met yesterday morning to discuss the Code of Ethics which is required under the National Recovery Act. Agreement was reached as to the terms of this code, and recommendation will be made to barbers of this district, who will likely meet within the coming week.

T. C. Thompson and C. L. Thompson spent Sunday in Amarillo attending a meeting of the Panhandle Hardware Dealers Association in which the Code was discussed.

Clyde W. Warwick attended a meeting of Panhandle printers last week in Amarillo, and another meeting has been called for next Monday to work on the Code.

The Code for Cleaners and Dyers has been accepted, which affects all tailor shops in Canyon.

Retail merchants have received information from their various organizations regarding the terms of the recovery act.

Practically all business executives listened with interest to the talk of President Roosevelt Tuesday night, and were impressed with the seriousness of the national administration to bring about recovery from the depression.

Every line of business must have a Code of Ethics by September first, which will be national law, and under which they will operate until the end of this year.

Starting August 1st, all business will operate under the general code until one is adopted by each vocation.

NATIONAL PARK HEAD APPROVES THE PALO DURO

EXPRESSES SURPRISE

Landscape Engineer Is Planning Work In Park

Two Days Spent in Inspection of the Canyon

Steps were taken Sunday and Monday which are believed to assure that the Palo Duro Canyon will be taken over by the federal government as a national park project. Herbert Evison of Washington, director of state parks, national park service, made the two days' inspection of the canyon from the Hamblen Drive to the Palo Duro State Park where 600 men are now starting the work of development.

Surprise and delight was expressed by Mr. Evison at the magnitude and beauty of the Palo Duro.

Mr. Evison was accompanied from Washington by P. H. Elwood, landscape engineer of the national park service.

Herbert Maier of Denver, regional director of the national park service, and B. L. Austin, architect for Texas projects, were here for the inspection.

The inspection party was conducted by F. A. Dale of Austin, with the Texas service of the national parks, D. E Colp, chairman of the Texas state parks board, J. O. Guleke of Amarillo, Evetts Haley of Austin, Newton Harrell of Claude, J. B. Ellston of Canyon, and Major James A. Watson of the C. C. C. camps.

A drive was made around the rim of the canyon early Sunday morning in order that a general view might be secured.

Horses were secured from the Harrell ranch to make the trip up the canyon. Mr. Haley pointed out the historical features of the Palo Duro. Mr. Colp presented the maps which had been made by the Texas Board of Water Engineers when three months were spent in a survey of the Palo Duro last summer. These maps show the improvements which are possible to be made in the the Palo Duro for the development of a state or national park

Buffalo In Park

Mr. Evison stated before leaving that the Goodnight buffalo herd should be acquired by the state and placed in the park as soon as construction work had progressed sufficiently. President J. A. Hill has offered the two buffaloes belonging to the College to go with the herd. In addition, Potter county has offered the zoo belonging to that county to be placed in the park as soon as practical.

Mr. Haley states that there was considerable talk among the state and national officials of establishing a natural history museum in the park for the preservation of specimen which will be excavated by the workmen. Captain McClure will be designated by Major Watson to select a detail of college men from the camps to seek out and preserve these specimens to place them in such a museum. L. F. Sheffy and Floyd Studor, officials of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society conferred with the officers at the camp Tuesday and offered every assistance in the development of the museum idea. Since the dugout is the native type of the Plains, the museum structure will likely be of this type, and will be unique in design and equipment.

Plans were discussed at length by the officials here as to the possibilities of developing the Palo Duro. To preserve the native beauty will be the aim of Mr. Elwood, who will direct the program for development. He is recognized as one of the three most noted landscape engineers in the United States, and is thoroughly sold on the possibilities of the Palo Duro.

In making the RFC loan to the Palo Duro, Mr. Evison was made directly responsible for the spending of this money, and the results which will be obtained.

CARELESSNESS CAUSES CRIME

Every killer is now equipped with a machine gun, which may be bought for $125. It is no wonder that the police cannot cope with gangs who are so fully equipped. The United States continues to have more murders than any nation on the face of the globe, and we continue to let go free a very large percent of the murderers. Crime would become very unprofitable if the American people should decide they had enough of crime, and that criminals must be punished.—Canyon News.

Higgins News: There is but one way to get rid of so much crime. That is for the people to be enough aroused to take a concerted action in the matter. Not by mob violence, but by being so fully alive to the situation that exists that criminals will not be allowed to go free. If every town and community saw fit to do so, there would be united effort employed to combat evil instead of evil running wild. Just so long as the country will put up with crime, just so long will crime flourish. If the criminal knew he was going up against the real thing he would not be so bold. He would think twice before he risked his life. It is the backing down of the victim that makes the robber or hijacker so bold. The ease with which crime is committed has made a lot of criminals. If the thief who drives away with a car that does not belong to him knew that he was facing a gun, he would not take the car. But knowing that people are careless and not watching out for trouble, it is no trick at all to make away with a car. Now it is easy for car thieves to hold up a filling station and make a getaway. But it would not be so easy if some plan was adopted by which the hijacker got a bullet in his hide. What this country needs is frontier justice. But before getting the rope, first see that your car is safely housed under lock and key; see that your filling station is properly equipped and guarded; that your bank is not only protected by insurance, but that a workable plan of self-protection is in force and easily operated; that your home is locked and your valuables in a safe place when you leave the sacred portals; that your place of business is equipped with windows and doors that will not be easily opened by thieves, and that you have some good alarm; in fact, play safe by taking care that you do not tempt evil doers by your own carelessness. When a criminal is cornered he will shoot to kill. But if he is given a shot first, he will not be risking his neck with such bravado.

MILK VERSUS BEER

Tahoka News: Somebody has gleaned the following facts from the United States Statistical Abstract.

In 1909, nearly 7,500,000,000 gallons of milk were produced in the United State. In 1919 approximately 7,800,000,000 gallons were produced. In 1924, the figures had climbed to 8,193,000,000 gallons.

In other words during the ten wet years the milk production increased 300,0000,000 gallons, or just 4 per cent. During the five dry years the milk production increased 1,393,000,000 gallons, or nearly 18 per cent.

Butter production during the ten wet years increased 8,800,000 pounds, we are told, while the increase during the five dry years was 458,800,000 pounds, fifty-two times as much as during the ten wet years.

The milk consumption during prohibition increased 212.5 pounds annually for every man, woman, and child in the United States. To obtain this increase, it required 2,500,000,000 more pounds of grain annually than were used in the distilling and brewing industry in 1917, according to Louis J. Tabor, master of the National Grange.

In other words, the more the people of the cities spend for booze the less they have to spend for milk and butter.

Booze has no food value and is therefore worthless, but it is very expensive. Being expensice it renders the drinking families less able to buy food and thereby decreases the demand for the farmer's products. Booze is not an economic asset; it is a terrible liability.

Uncle Sam Acts to Halt Kidnaping, Gangdom's Newest Industry

A SERIES of major kidnapings recently has spurred Uncle Sam into action in an attempt to halt the rapid growth of what is fast developing into America's prize racket.

Floored financially by the depression and the legalization of beer, gangland is desperately seeking a new source of income. At least, that's how many interpret the recent kidnapings of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, John J. O'Connell and August Luer. The expertness of these crimes, their growing frequency, the huge ransoms asked—all bear the earmarks of highly efficient underworld organization.

And it is to keep the "easy money" gentry from recuperating in wealth and power by means of the cruelist of all extortion rackets, that Uncle Sam is beginning to take a hand.

KIDNAPING is not the only evil the government aims to stamp out in its drive against organized crime, but it has become one of the most important and the most vicious. The kidnaping and subsequent murder of Baby Lindbergh a little more than a year ago horrified the world. Also, it precipitated, and perhaps inspired, the numerous and ambitious abductions which have occurred since.

Mrs. Mary Skeele of Los Angeles; Charles Boettcher, Jr., of Denver; Peter Myers, Jr., of Warren, O.; little Margaret McMath of Harwich, Mass.; Mary McElroy, daughter of Kansas City's city manager; William Hamm of St. Paul, and Jerome Factor of Chicago—all were victims in major kidnapings of the past year. But it was the spiriting away of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, father of Jerome; John J. O'Connell, member of a politically prominent family of Albany, N. Y., and August Luer, aged Alton, Ill., banker, which finally stirred the government to action against the ransom racket.

ATTORNEY General Homer S. Cummings and his newly-appointed assistant, John B. Keenan, will head the campaign against organized crime in general, and kidnaping in particular.

Several proposals have been made and are being acted upon to help Uncle Sam in his crusade against the underworld. A central "clearing house" of criminal information will be brought to a peak of efficiency. Inviting from every source data on racketeers and kidnapers, the "clearing house" will gather and assemble this information and make it available to federal, state and city authorities.

Likewise, a drive is under way to increase the collection of fingerprints of known kidnapers now on file in the Washington bureau of identification. And a law making the payment of any ransom in United States currency a federal crime, is being considered.

Attorney General Cummings intends to work for the establishment of a federal police force. To combat organized crime properly, he believes, it is necessary that the law enforcement bodies of the nation should be similarly organized. Federal assistance, he points out, is necessary because of the interstate character of kidnaping, and the difficulty of extraditing criminals from one state to another.

John and Jake Factor, Chicago
M. McMath, Harwich, Mass.
M. B. Skeele, Los Angeles
C. Boettcher, II, Denver, Colo.
M. McElroy Kansas City, Mo.
Wm. Hamm, Jr., St. Paul, Minn.
J. J. O'Connell, Albany, N. Y.

Principals and a geographic record of the nation's major kidnapings in 1933 are shown above.

It is not surprising to see the parade for repeal continue in its success. Alabama, Arkansas and Tennessee, all traditionally dry, together with Oregon, have voted for repeal of the 18th amendment. The total number endorsing repeal is now twenty states. No state has rejected the proposal. The vote and trend of the times clearly indicates that the American people are willing to try anything, just so it is a change. Making the nation prosperous through drunkenness is so ridiculous that it should be unanimously rejected. But results are not being considered. Anything for a change, say the people. We shall see whether or not the majority is always right in its demands.

The main trouble with the movement for shorter hours of labor is that people do not know how to gainfully employ themselves when not tied down to a job. Too many feel that they have to get mixed up in some kind of cussedness while not employed and when their energies are not directed. It would be a fine thing for the human race if they could enjoy leisure a little more, but unfortunately more of us are completely miserable when left to ourselves with nothing to do, and we know not where to turn for self-improvement or beneficial recreation.

There is one man in Canyon who strictly favors the movement for shorter hours, and an easier method of making a living. City Commissioner W. S. Amend stated Monday that he hoped the time would come when machinery would do all the hard work, giving people time for recreation, and self-improvement. He started life between the plow handles from early morning until late at night, and knows what hard work for 16 hours per day means. He is willing for the coming generation to be relieved of such hard toil.

The directness, forcefulness and frankness with which President Roosevelt talks to the people of the United States is having a wonderful result in restoring confidence in the government, in its activities, and in every phase of public and private enterprise. With confidence restored, conditions will improve rapidly.

The farmers are selling the government cotton, wheat and corn. Why not let the newspaper boys in? We have some good advertising columns for sale to Uncle Sam.

Seth B. Holman, publisher of the Hereford Brand, died last Thursday morning, following an illness of several years. Mr. Holman was one of the most prominent and popular publishers of the Panhandle. His newspaper career has been varied, starting in Austin, continuing in Fort Worth, extending to the Panhandle, where he served as farm editor of the Amarillo News, and publisher-owner of the Hereford Brand. His was one of the most brilliant minds in newspaper circles of the Panhandle. His passing is deeply regretted by a large circle of friends, which includes not only publishers, but also Chamber of Commerce executives, and farmers throughout the Panhandle.

News in Canyon 25 Years Ago

(From the files of the Canyon City News, July 24, 1908)

W. O. Bennett, R. G. Oldham, I. L. Hunt, and Harry Howell went to Amarillo Wednesday evening in the latter's auto to attend one session (one night) of the Masonic Chapter lectures, now being conducted there by W. A. Dallas.

The News received Wednesday, thru the kindness of Mrs. W. F. Heller, a copy of the Ohio State Journal containing an account of the Prohibition party national convention at its place of publication, Columbus. Eugene W. Chafin of Illinoise, is the nominee for president and Aaron S. Watkins of Ohio, for vice president. According to the Journal the convention was fully as noisy as the one at Denver with "scenes of storm and stress that rivaled Chicago." The Hellers attended.

J. M. Craig made 1,600 bushels of wheat and it was sold here in town at 92c.

Charlie Thomas is now the happy possessor of a pair of cinnamon bear cubs. They were shipped here from Denver, Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Reid left Tuesday for Blair, Oklahoma to visit their son, Milton.

The old court house is now in position on West Houston, on lots belonging to the county, where it will be occupied and used as formerly for public business until the new court house is completed. The price paid for moving it, including the foundation restored, is $700 instead of $750 as previously stated in these columns. The flues are yet to be put back, also the vault which this time is to be placed outside of the building instead of inside.

Miss Lorna Cox has accepted a position with the News.

Plans are being made for the erection of two brick buildings, sixty foot front, two stories high and 120 feet in length on the vacant corner, west side of the square.

G. A. Dougherty was able to be out Wednesday from his last misfortune—poisoned feet caused by hose coloring. Broken ribs and this together has had him "laid up for repairs" several weeks. Before putting on new socks 'tis always best to have them washed.

Several and among them, John Knight, have made their third cutting of alfalfa for this season. John says that his crops have come in every thirty days and each time over a ton to the acre.

Keep Cool, Chic, With Floral Prints

BESIDES WHITE SHOES, HAT, GLOVES AND LINGERIE TOUCHES, DARK ACCESSORIES SHOULD BE VALUABLE

BY HARRIET

WHEN hot weather wilts everything in sight, it's refreshing to see a woman wearing a floral printed frock.

Nothing looks as cool as prints. If you have a printed ensemble for the hot midsummer days in town, rest assured that you'll look cool even if you aren't. It's positively invigorating to walk down a hot city street and see a woman who looks like a cool country garden. And floral printed silk looks just that way!

For variety with a printed outfit, change your accessories. White kid shoes, panama hat, white gloves and lingerie touches are lovely at smart resorts and in town, too. But have some dark accessories for street wear. They stay clean much longer and are a little bit more practical.

You'll thank your lucky stars that you have a few dark accessories when you get up some fine morning to discover that the white accessories need to be sent to the cleaners before you can wear them.

PRINTS make a cheery corner of your particular spot in the office. Jacket ensembles are your best bet if you wear prints to an office. Wear the jacket on the street to and from work. Take it off when you are at business. The short sleeved dress will be as cool an outfit as you can find anywhere.

Plain accessories are, of course, best with prints. A panama or white straw hat, with a simple grosgrain band the same shade as the predominating color in the print, and plain white kid shoes are the best complements for prints.

If you're wearing dark accessories, go in for dark straw hats of solid colors and dark kid shoes. White gloves are in order whether your hat and shoes be dark or light.

As a filler-in for your summer wardrobe, a printed outfit is a wise choice. You'll wear it the rest of the summer until you get your first fall dress. If it doesn't have too much white in it, you probably will be able to wear it again, early next spring, under your winter coat.

A MULTI-COLORED floral printed dress, with elbow-length sleeves, is simply handsome for town wear. It's the kind of a print which doesn't show the dirt.

The round neckline has a medium-width turned-down collar which ends in a wide silk tie, ascot fashion. A narrow, accordion-pleated band goes all the way around the edges of the collar and tie. It is duplicated in the fluting on the sleeves.

Worn with blue kid shoes, navy blue straw hat with white band and a black leather belt, you'll go a long way to find a better or more appropriate town street frock.

A white floral print on a black ground carries out that ever-so-chic summer color scheme. The dress has short sleeves, is cut very simply with a plain, round neckline.

The jacket has three-quarters length sleeves and is the popular three-quarters length.

Black straw hat, with a white band, black kid, diagonal-strap shoes, and two organdy flowers worn high at the throat are ideal accessories.

Two intriguing floral print frocks are shown above. The one at left has a round neckline with medium-width turned-down collar which ends in a wide silk tie, ascot fashion. The edges of collar and tie, and the sleeve flutings, are accordion-pleated. Simple but chic is the dress at right, with plain, round neckline and three-quarters length sleeves.

Fight on Teachers College Is Made By Selfish Leaders

The West Texas State Teachers College was visited yesterday and today by Dr. Alonzo F. Myers of the department of education of New York University. Dr. Myers is visiting colleges in practically every state as he crosses the continent from New York to San Francisco.

Wednesday morning Dr. Myers addressed students and faculty taking as his subject "Education and Today's Social Order." "Education may perpetuate the existing social order, or it may perpetuate and improve it or it may redirect the social order," said Dr. Myers. "I think," he continued, "That everyone will admit that usually education has lagged far behind the social order in making needed changes."

The speaker scored school systems for removing the courses of study the music and art and other subjects which are absolutely necessary to a people who have "spare" time if that time is to be used happily and profitably. He pointed out that the fundamental subjects of today are not the same subjects as fifty years ago, because our entire social system has been changed through rapid evolution of means of communication and transportation.

He called attention to the fact that tremendous changes have taken place in America during the present month of July, with the relation of capital and labor changed almost over night, and with the passing of the era of so-called rugged individualism into one of co-operative effort.

Following his line of thought he said that the next year would be the most difficult in education that the United State had ever seen, but that the schools were confronted with magnificent opportunities for leadership along with almost insurmountable proolems.

In the informal talk before the Teachers College staff, Dr. Myers stated that the last year had been the first time that there had ever been a concerted fight against teachers colleges. He said that there were certain organizations which were not at all interested in education which were making money for themselves by telling state legislatures how to save money, and that these organizations proposed to save money by doing away with service without regard for its value to the state.

He suggested that Teachers Colleges would do well to serve the state in two distinct capacities, first, as training colleges for excellent teachers who would render unmistakeably better service in the public schools than teachers from other colleges, and second, and general junior colleges for the section of the state in which they are located. He stated in this connection that municipal junior colleges cannot possibly thrive except in the larger cities. In connection with teacher training, Dr. Myers suggested that in Texas there is great need for revision of the certificate laws so as to protect the schools from ill-prepared teachers.

Regent John E. Hill of Amarillo was present and heard Dr. Myers' talk and made suggestions toward carrying out the plans which nationally known educators believe are advisable for the best welfare of both the people and teachers colleges.

Dr. Myers also addressed the college faculty and was taken to visit the Palo Duro Park Camp before leaving last night for California.

Many Girls Are Planning to Enter Cooperative Home

People throughout the entire northwest section of Texas are expressing their appreciation of the arrangement to make Randall Hall a co-operative home for girls. From many towns communications have come, stating that young people cannot possibly go to college this year unless they can do it on a little money. One letter said, "We are just about to begin our canning and we want to know what things will be acceptable in part payment for board and room."

It was recently decided by the college authorities to operate Randall Hall during the next year as a co-operative home for girls, at a probable expense of $13 per month. It is planned that each girl may pay as much as $6 of the $13 in canned goods, butter, eggs, meat, or any other commodity which can be used. The girls will do their own work under the direction of a supervisor who will be purchasing agent for them, and who will do the general planning.

Laundry facilities, lights, and heat are to be furnished under the plan, and each girl will bring her own bedding and some of her room furnishings, such as pictures, pillows and other decorations.

Randall Hall, under the new plan will house about eighty girls. County superintendents and home demonstration agents are helping select the girls who will be admitted to the Hall during the coming year. President Hill has not yet announced the name of the supervisor.

Arrangements for the trip, which were made by the Bureau of Public Service, had to be made in advance, and only a limited number of certified visitors were admitted.

Those making the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Vick, John and Edwin Reid, Edith King, Price King, Dennis Smith, F. W. Dodson, L. B. Dodson, Floyd Taylor, Walter Waechter, Erma McCurry, Malcolm Martin, Chas. Burk, Luallie Norris, R. H. King, Wallace O'Keefe, Martha Nell Lang, Arlin Hartzog, Margaret Pierle, R. Y. SCENES AT THE PALO DURO STATE PARK

More than 600 men, all World War veterans from various cities in Texas, are so far assembled at Palo Duro Canyon, 13 miles from this city. The pictures show (top) a view of one of the company streets; a portion of the canyon on which a road will be constructed as one of the first steps in the park improvement plan, and the officers in charge of the three companies. Left to right, the officers are: Major Randolph Gordon, Company 1828; Major James A. Watson, Company 1829; Captain Lee V. Hunnicutt, Company 1824.

The camp, with Major Watson as senior officer, already is in full swing. Construction of the mess halls and other buildings was completed during the week. Work on the highway into the canyon was started over a week ago and is steadily being extended into the depths of the canyon. All the three companies are at peak strength, the men have tackled their jobs with commendable enthusiasm and the work proceeds at a most satisfactory pace.

A TRAMP'S LECTURE

A tramp asked for a drink in a saloon. The request was granted and when in the act of drinking the proffered beverage one of the men present exclaimed.

"Stop! Make us a speech. It is poor liquor that doesn't unloosen a man's tongue."

The tramp hastily swallowed down the drink, and as the rich liquor coursed through his blood straightened himself and stood before them with a grace and dignity that all his dirt and rags could not obscure.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I look tonight at you and myself, and it seems to me I look upon the picture of my blighted manhood. This rambling figure once walked proudly as yours, for I was a man in the world of men, I, too, once had a home and friends and position. I had a wife as beautiful as an artist's dream, but I dropped the priceless pearl of her honor and respect into a cup of wine, and, like Cleopatra, saw it dissolve then quaffed it down in the brimming draught. I had children as sweet and pure as the flowers of spring, and saw them fade and die under the blighting cause of a drunken father. I had a home where love lit the flame upon the altar and ministered before it, but I put out the holy fire and darkness and desolation reigned in its stead. I had aspirations and ambition that soared as high as the morning star, but I broke and bruised their beautiful forms and strangled them that I might hear their cries no more. Today I am a husband without a wife, a father without a child, a tramp without a home and a man in whom every good impulse is dead. All have been swallowed up in the maelstrom of drink."

The tramp ceased speaking. The glass fell from his nervous fingers and was shattered into a thousand fragments on the floor. The swinging doors were pushed open and shut again, and when the little group looked up the tramp was gone.—Exchange.

POWER OF WORDS

By Bruce Barton

If you were given the task of advertising to the world that God cares enormously for one human life—no matter how wayward and wrong the life may be—how could you phrase a message more memorable than the parable of the lost sheep? How simple; how sincere; how splendidly crisp and direct Jesus told it. Benjamin Franklin in his autobiography—that first great American "success story"—tells the process through which he went by acquiring an effective style. He would read a passage from some great master of English then lay the book aside and attempt to reproduce the thoughts in his own words. Comparing his version with the original, he discovered wherein he had obscured the thought, or wasted words, or failed in driving straight to the point. Every advertising man ought to study the parables of Jesus in the same fashion, schooling himself in their language and learning the four big elements of their power.

First of all they are marvelously condensed, as all good advertising must be. Charles A. Dana once issued an assignment to a new reporter on the New York Sun, directing him to confine his article to a column. The reporter protested that the story was too big to be compressed into so small a space.

"Get a copy of the Bible and read the first chapter of Genesis," said Dana. "You'll be surprised to find that the whole story of the creation of the world can be told in 600 words."

Two men spoke on the battleground of Gettysburg sixty years ago. The first delivered an oration of more than two hours in length; not one person in ten who reads this page can even recall his name. The second speaker uttered two hundred and fifty words, and those words, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address are a part of the mental endowment of almost every American.

Many noble prayers have been sent up to the Throne of Grace—long impressive utterances. The prayer which Jesus taught his disciples consists of sixty-eight words, and can be written on the back of a postcard. Many poems and essays have been penned by writers who hoped they were making a permanent place for themselves in literature; but the greatest poem ever written consists of one hundred and eighty words. It is the Twenty Third Psalm.

Talk is cheap. Almost any married man can go home at 3 o'clock in the morning and get a long lecture for nothing.

The middle-class is the one that isn't poor enough to be exempt from income tax or rich enough to ignore it.

Now is the time to keep the chin up, and in the case of the woman who has a double chin one of them will do.

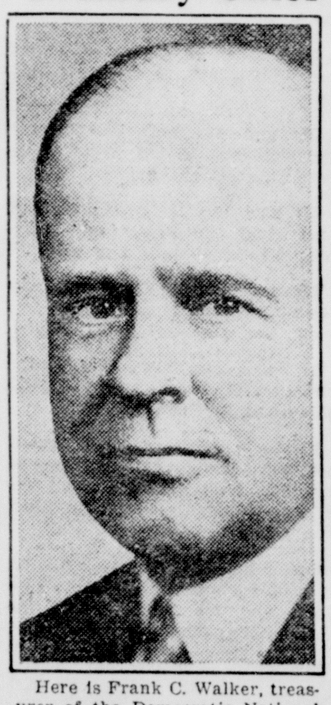
May Be Next Treasury Chief



Here is Frank C. Walker, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and newly-appointed executive secretary of the National Recovery Executive Council, who has been mentioned as a possible successor to Treasury Secretary William H Woodin. The resignation of Woodin has been rumored for some time. Walker, a former Butte, Mont., lawyer, is a close friend of President Roosevelt.

It's a Circus for 'Anna May'

"Anna May," the demure nursemaid shown above with Baby Leroy, Hollywood tot, may have a tough hide, but she also has a tender heart when babies are concerned. The picture above was snapped just after she had released a huge chuckle at some cute thing the baby did.

The worst will not happen until we have to listen to some fellow tell how he actually made money out of the depression.

In the National Meets at Chicago, Everything Went Swimmingly for Amphibious Ralph Flanagan, 15, New Mile Champ

BY PHILIP MARTIN

A SUN-TANNED flash from Miami, Fla., a 15-year-old kid who was the youngest member of the U. S. Olympic swim team last year, is the new mile swimming champ of the United States.

Ralph Flanagan is the name; and behind that round Irish countenace and under that heaving chest are contained the things essential to breaking records — plenty of endurance and a good ticker

Ralph took part in the recent National A. A. U. senior swim championships at Chicago, and when he stepped out of the tank after diving in for a one-mile jaunt, Buster Crabbe's old record was smashed to smithereens.

The boy's time for the one-mile trek was 21:12.2, besting Buster's mark by nearly five seconds. Flanagan also won the 300-meter medley swim, and took second in the 880-yard free style, to emerge from the water individual point winner with a total of 16.

And all that from a boy of 15!

THEY'RE going to stage a grand football brawl at the Chicago World's Fair on the night of Aug. 24.

The game will be between stars of the west coast, and luminaries of the mid-west. Howard Jones, wise old leader of Southern California, will head the boys from the west, while Dick Hanley, smart coach of Northwestern, will pilot the mid-western crew

There'll be plenty of beef and speed on both teams, and some of the best players to flash across the gridiron in years will take part.

The western stars will be Morley Drury, that great quarterback of the 1927 Trojan team: Stan Williamson, last year's Trojan center: Bill Beasley, St. Mary's backfield star: Tay Brown and Ernie Smith, Southern California's two great tackles: Dave Nesbit, Washington end: Frank Christensen, Utah back: and George Sander, Washington State back.

Opposed to this aggregation Hanley will send on the field Joe Kurth, Notre Dame tackle; Wesley Fesler, Ohio State, and Dick Fencl, Northwestern, ends: Pug Rentner of Northwestern, Lew Hinchman of Ohio State, Roy Horstman of Purdue, Jack Manders of Minnesota, and Gill Berry of Illinois, backs: Harry Newman, Michigan, quarterback, and Lawrence Ely, Nebraska, center

Knowing Jones and Hanley as you no doubt do, and knowing the stars assembled for these two teams, you can bet your bottom dollar it will be a good, close game.

AND have you noticed that Jimmy Foxx, with the season about half-way gone, is well on his way toward keeping that early-season promise to break the home-run record?

Foxx is Connie Mack's best boy now that Al Simmons is playing for the White Sox.

Though only 15, Ralph Flanagan, left, had little trouble winning the mile event at the National A. A. U. meet at Chicago. Jimmy Foxx, shown at right with the trophy he won for being the most valuable player in the American League, continues to be just as valuable to Connie Mack.

THE STATE OF TEXAS:

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Randall County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Joseph Austin Bassett, and the unknown heirs of said Joseph Austin Bassett, their heirs and legal representatives, by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but, if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Randall County, Texas, to be holden at the courthouse thereof, in Canyon, Texas, on the first Monday in August, A. D. 1933, the same being the 7th day of August, A. D. 1933, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 3rd day of July, A. D. 1933, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court, No. 1380, wherein Florence Donovan, a feme sole, Henry Alton Bassett and Lydia E. V. Bassett, a feme sole, are plaintiffs, and Joseph Austin Bassett and the unknown heirs of said Joseph Austin Bassett, their heirs and legal representatives, are defendants; the nature of plaintiffs' demand being as follows:

Plaintiffs allege, in count of trespass to try title, that on or about the 1st day of May, 1933, they were lawfully seized and possessed of an undivided five-sixths interest in and to section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20, B. S. & F. grantee, located in Randall County, Texas, and pray for judgment for title and possession of said interest in said land as against defendants.

In the alternative, plaintiffs allege that plaintiffs and defendants are the joint owners of said section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20 B .S. & F. grantee, Randall County, Texas, as heirs of Allen S. Bassett, deceased; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, being entitled to an undivided one-half interest, and the plaintiffs, Henry Alton Bassett, and Lydia E. V. Bassett, and the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, (or his representative heirs, if he be dead) being each entitled to an undivided one-sixth interest in and to said tract of land; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further alleging a cloud cast on the title to her interest in said lands by reason of a certain deed of trust executed by her on the 3rd day of December, 1917, in favor of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, due on or before five years after date, which said deed of trust and lien created thereby she alleges she is entitled to have cancelled, and her interest in said land awarded to her free and clear thereof.

Plaintiffs, on their alternative plea, pray for judgment partitioning said land among plaintiffs and defendants, according to their respective interests; and the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further prays that the cloud cast on the title to her interest in said land be removed, and that her share be awarded to her free and clear of said deed of trust lien aforesaid; and plaintiffs further pray for all relief to which they may show themselves entitled, whether general or special, legal or equitable; and also for citation by publication, the place of residence of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, if living, being unknown; and, if he be dead, the heirs, their heirs and legal representatives, of the said Joseph Austin Bassett being unknown.

Bert Camp wouldn't keep that canary and give it his attention more than twenty-four hours if it stopped singing.

That canary of Bert's has to ADVERTISE for a comfortable living.

If your business is not a "singing" business it won't be long before folks will stop paying attention to it.

Surely with the New Deal program of business you can well afford to learn the lesson of Bert Camp's Canary.

Flag Raising Sunday at the Palo Duro tSate Park

In spite of the rain in the early afternoon hundreds of people from Canyon and Amarillo attended the Flag Raising ceremonies at the Palo Duro State Park. The Hanson Post of Amarillo had charge of the program, with Fred E. Young, post commander, presiding.

The Buffalo Band furnished the music, playing several selections which were highly appreciated by the men in the camp.

In the absence of Congressman Marvin Jones, Clyde W. Warwick was called upon for a short impromtu talk regarding the Palo Duro Canyon, and the men who were at work on the project. He pledged the co-operation of Canyon and Randall county for a successful conclusion of the project which was underway.

Major Randolph Gordon thanked the citizens of this section for the splendid co-operation given at the camps since the 600 men had been sent here. Each officer was introduced to the crowd.

H. A. Shaw of Amarillo pronounced the invocation, and directed the singing of "America," which was played by the Buffalo Band.

Judge E. C. Nelson, Jr., led in the pledge to the Flag.

Mrs. Paul Boxwell and Mrs. E. C. Nelson sang two duets.

Four men of the camp furnished a great deal of amusement with a kitchen utensil orchestra, which they have dubbed Grand Opera. A great deal of talent is being produced among the men for the programs which they will put on at various times.

The program was closed with the Star Spangled Banner, played by the Buffalo Band, while the new flag was hoisted on the flag pole, designated and erected by men of the camp. The flag was donated by the Amarillo Post, while materials were donated by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and Burrow Lumber Company.

Camp Beautified

The Beaumont-Houston company of world war veterans at Palo Duro Canyon has earned considerable commendable mention since the some 600 Texas veterans assembled here to work on improvements as members of the "tree army."

The latest praise resulted from the unusually excellent landscaping work done under the direction of Platoon Leader Herbert C. Onderson, of Beaumont. Mr. Anderson planned decorations and arrangements that win instant favorable mention from visitors.

Assisting in the work were Charlie Oller, of Houston, James Pixley, of Port Arthur, and Paul H. Wilson, of Houston. Together they completed an artistic arrangement around the company drinking bags, the officers' tents, mess hall and the company street.

Hauling sand, gravel and rocks from the canyon, topped off by small cedar trees attractively set-out, Anderson and his assistants worked carefully to design the arrangements as ornamental and attractive as possible, doing such a good job that they were highly commended by Major Randolph Gordon, company overseers.

Company 1828 also has won prominence, in other ways, including baseball, being champions of the camp, with three straight victories to their credit. A number of the men of the company are outstanding musicians. Each night they provide a program of music and songs. The closest competition is from Company 1829, the San Antonio vets, who, too, have some talented musicians, good ball players, and men who take pride in the arrangement of their company street.

Mrs. Lige Frieze and Mrs. Dan Sanders and daughter Ellen left Saturday morning to visit relatives in Central Texas. Mrs. Frieze is visiting at Terrell, and Mrs. Sanders and daughter in Nacogdoches.

started was not clear in the minds of those calling the meeting. Judge Orton wired Austin asking if a special session of the highway commission was to be held this week, and was assured that no such meeting was scheduled. No one from Randall county made the trip to Austin, owing to the uncertainty of the steps, although a number of Panhandle citizens accompanied Senator Small on the trip.

It was made certain at the meeting that the first project in Randall county would be the highway from Canyon east to the Palo Duro State Park. This project was rejected last week at the regular meeting of the Highway Commission, and therefore was included in the special request as a relief measure.

The necessity of this additional work as a drouth relief measure will be urged in both Austin and Washington, and it was believed by those present at the meeting Monday that recognition of this urgent demand would be heard by state and federal authorities.

the Park, was deeded to the State Parks Board Tuesday by F. A. Emory, when Mr. Evison disclosed his plans for placing the permanent improvements on the outlook south of the present C. C. C. camps.

Those who interviewed the visiting delegation while here, were impressed with the possible developments which will take place in the Palo Duro during the coming months.

"It will be bigger than any of us ever dreamed," was the concensus of opinion expressed.

Principles Rotary Discussed by Pastor at Luncheon

Rev. J. H. Hicks discussed the principles of Rotary at the regular luncheon Tuesday. President Sylvester Ingham, Secretary Irby Carruth and Levi Cole were attending the district conference at Wichita Falls. Bob Jarrett, vice president, presided.

John Jackson and Jesse Barker were introduced as new members.

Visitors present were: Leroy White of Amarillo, Cliff Dorn of Dalhart, F. A. Emory of Chicago, J. B. Elliston, Dan F. Sanders and Rev. J. R. Hicks of Canyon.

Rev. Hicks talked particularly to new members, but discussed the principles of Rotary as applied to old members as well. The Code of Ethics was called by the speaker as one of the highest codes for any business man. Before becoming a Rotarian Mr. Hicks studied the Code and held it in great esteem. It is inspiring to be a Rotarian, and try to live up to the high ideals expressed in the Code and the six objectives.

Rotary is an unselfish organization. To get the most out of the club, members were urged to put their best into it, to work at the job, and on the programs. The emblem binds the members together in close union, and in a united purpose.

TRANSFERS OF CHILDREN DUE BY AUGUST FIRST

Transfer of school children from one district to another in Randall county must be made before the first of August.

This is the last week for making such transfers. Judge S. B. Orton makes the transfers for all districts in the county.

Kills Bandit Who Seizes Wife

Here is Isaac McCarty, Altamont, Kans., bank cashier, who prevented his bank from being robbed and his wife, shown above, from being kidnaped or slain, by shooting two bank robbers, Kenneth Conn and Alvin Payton. McCarty shot and killed Conn as the latter was attempting to use Mrs. McCarty as a shield. The Kansas State Bankers Association awarded $500 to McCarty for his deed. Payton, who was wounded and captured, and Conn were among the 11 convicts who escaped from the Kansas Penitentiary Memorial Day.
